Welcome to KnitPro

We are excited to see you and share news about what is going on in the always-active craft industry. This has been a busy year for many types of craft as people learn about the positive affect that “making” has on their lives. While knitting and crochet are among the most popular types of handwork, we have become aware of change and growth in a number of new areas.

One major change for us is that Knitter’s Pride and KnitPro are now united under one brand name: KnitPro. While Knitter’s Pride has always been part of the KnitPro Company, the name was originally created as a separate brand for the North American and Canadian market. We felt the time was now right to identify the brand as the world-wide business. Of course, this changes nothing as far as our products and services are concerned, but it does allow us to be consistent in all our marketing and social media activities. Now, wherever our customers shop, the name KnitPro will be universally recognized.

Our single brand name has given rise to new packaging, ensuring that the look of a KnitPro product is easily identified on the shelf or in the store. All our product packaging reflects KnitPro’s company-wide commitment to sustainable practices by using plastic-free and biodegradable materials. The same responsible behavior holds true for all our manufacturing practices, as well as the environment in which we work.

We are pleased to report that the Lantern Moon brand of knitting and crochet products - an important member of the KnitPro family - is selling very well globally.

Another exciting adventure we undertook last year was the creation of a special new brand of hand-dyed yarn: Symfonie Yarns. The line was created by our own in-house team of knitting and dye specialists and was gently launched earlier last year. The 100+ colors have sparked so many complements and orders.

It is always gratifying to hear from our customers who take the time to let us know how important their crafting life is to them. Often, they tell us how the making of beautiful things is a source of joy, as well as emotional comfort. As proud producers of quality tools and materials, KnitPro is honored to be a part of their lives.
